MESSAGE

FROM THE CHAIR AND THE EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

What an incredible year! 2019 marked the 25th anniversary of the International Conference on Population and Development Programme of Action.

Sexual and reproductive health and rights (SRHR) advocates from around the world gathered at the Nairobi Summit this year to commemorate this landmark agenda and design a new framework for accelerated action on gender equality, human rights, and sexual and reproductive health and rights, The Nairobi Statement on ICPD25: Accelerating the Promise.

Our network also made a promise at this event: We will continue to advocate for the areas of greatest need in the Asia Pacific region to ensure all people have the right to bodily autonomy and integrity, access to safe abortion and comprehensive sexuality education, to increase participation of marginalised groups, and that we will continue to strengthen our efforts and promote accountability to SRHR commitments.

This promise has become essential as we face the COVID-19 pandemic. Civil society collaboration and cooperation for the protection and fulfilment of SRHR is more important now than ever.

Throughout the year, our members have worked collectively to fulfill this commitment. The Asia Pacific Alliance for Sexual and Reproductive Health and Rights (APA) unveiled our new branding and interactive public platforms at the 2019 Women Deliver Conference in Vancouver. Our logo's three colours represent our determined alliance to mobilise civil society action: pink for sexuality, red for health, and blue to represent our twenty years as a regional network. We also welcomed five new members to our network:

- The International Planned Parenthood Federation East and South East Asia & Oceania Region (IPPF ESEAOR)
- Asia Pacific Network of Sex Workers (APNSW)
- SERAC-Bangladesh
- Bandhu Social Welfare Society
- Haseeb Khawaja

All of these incredible achievements could not have been done without the continued support of Planned Parenthood Association of Thailand (PPAT), who hosts the APA coordinating office in Bangkok.

Sincerely,

Shama Karkal
APA Steering Committee Chair

In 1994, 179 governments adopted the revolutionary Programme of Action (PoA) at the International Conference on Population and Development (ICPD) in Cairo. This ambitious agenda called for women's sexual health, reproductive health and reproductive rights to be prioritised in sustainable development efforts.

We established the Asia Pacific Alliance for Sexual and Reproductive Health and Rights (APA) as a civil society organisation-led network to support action for promoting the ICPD agenda at national, regional, and global fora. Over the last two decades, APA galvanised national and regional advocacy from its coordinating office in Bangkok to further SRHR, gender and human rights globally.

WHO WE ARE

APA is a network of national, regional and global civil society organisations that advocate for the fulfillment of sexual and reproductive health and rights (SRHR) for all persons in the Asia Pacific region.

WHAT WE DO

Our mission is to mobilise civil society advocacy across the Asia Pacific region to hold governments and other stakeholders accountable for their obligations and commitments to realise the SRHR of all persons in Asia and the Pacific. We prioritise issues such as sexuality, access to comprehensive sexuality education and access to safe and legal abortion.

HOW WE DO IT

APA uses two main strategies to achieve its mission: regional advocacy and capacity building. APA and our members advocate at national, regional and global fora to ensure inclusion and uptake of comprehensive sexuality priorities, encourage government transparency and participation and monitor review processes. These include 2030 Agenda, International Conference on Population and Development, Beijing Platform for Action, Universal Periodic Review and human rights treaty bodies for progress on SRHR commitments.

2019 IN REVIEW

We are committed to empowering sexual and reproductive health and rights champions. We mobilise for advocacy on sexual and reproductive health and rights (SRHR), encourage active participation, and endeavour to increase opportunities for civil society in developing countries to access national, regional and global review processes.

APA specifically focuses on underserved issues within SRHR, including access to safe and legal abortion, comprehensive sexuality education and human rights for people of diverse sexual orientations, gender identities/expressions and sex characteristics.

In 2019, we co-organised numerous capacity building events and partnered with key stakeholders to strengthen regional alliances and advocate for policy development and fulfilment.

We continued to improve our services for members and amplified the impact of our network's capacity building and advocacy efforts.

We also grew our network this year! Five new members joined our commitment to advancing SRHR in the Asia Pacific, adding sex workers as a new constituency represented in our network, and one new country – Bangladesh.

APA continues to be a collective regional voice for holding governments and other stakeholders accountable to their commitments for realising SRHR for all. We believe strong partnerships and an active civil society, equipped with knowledge and skills, are the keys to strong, effective regional advocacy that delivers life changing SRHR policies.

This year, we worked with local, national, regional and global organisations that share our mission of mobilising civil society organisations for sexual and reproductive health and rights. Our partnerships produced capacity building events that amplify and strengthen the impact of our advocacy.

APA also contributed to regional and global coalitions and listservs to ensure that Asia Pacific SRHR issues are prioritised. We ensured that our members were continually updated on current initiatives and developments in the region. We also helped coordinate the Thematic Working Group on Gender, SRHR and Sexuality of the Asia Pacific Regional Civil Society Engagement Mechanism.

CEDAW-SDG LEARNING EXCHANGE

The Convention on the Elimination of all Forms of Discrimination Against Women (CEDAW) – Sustainable Development Goal (SDG) Learning Exchange was organised for APA members on September 7-9 in Bangkok in collaboration with the International Women’s Rights Action Watch Asia Pacific (IWRAP AP) and Realizing Sexual and Reproductive Justice (RESURJ). With 17 APA and three RESURJ members in attendance, the event aimed to:

- Facilitate peer learning through guiding conversations on the significance of international legal and policy frameworks concerning SRHR, including CEDAW, Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs), International Conference on Population and Development (ICPD) and Beijing Platform for Action (BPfA)
- Provide increased understanding of States’ legal obligations regarding SRHR under the international human rights system
- Strengthen capacity by linking policy frameworks, especially utilising the BPfA +25 review process as an opportunity to ensure coherence in standards setting

We attended the Summit and delivered a Statement of Commitment on behalf of the network, committing to mobilise civil society action for SRHR and continue our advocacy for the areas of greatest need in our region. GENERATING EVIDENCE

In addition to education and advocacy, we published and contributed to SRHR research initiatives. Joint network submissions were formulated and sent to:

- Office of the High Commissioner for Human Rights: “Report of the Independent Expert on protection against violence and discrimination based on sexual orientation and gender identity: Marginalisation and exclusion from socio-cultural environments. Presented at the 74th session of the UN General Assembly on September 17-30.
- International Court of Justice: “Developing principles to address the detrimental impact on health, equality and human rights of criminalization with a focus on select conduct in the areas of sexuality, reproduction, drug use and HIV”

APA also developed a publication to address the gaps in sexual rights knowledge and evidence in the region. Our aim was to determine what types of evidence civil society can utilise to fill these gaps. The publication will be finalised in 2020 and will highlight neglected areas of SRHR, including comprehensive sexuality education, sexuality of young people, access to safe and legal abortion, right to a pleasurable sex life, eliminating discrimination on the basis of sexual orientation, gender identity/expression and sex characteristics.

We utilised participatory methodology to engage members of the APA alliance, partners and extended networks. A short-term task force was formed to ensure quality assurance:

- Shrirupa Sengupta
Lead Communications, Associate Director, Swasti Health Catalyst
- Fsahat Hassan
CEO, Youth Advocacy Network (YAN) Pakistan

IMPACT

We took concrete steps to better serve our members by improving the quality, relevance and access to information within our network.

KNOWLEDGE MANAGEMENT

We launched our new branding and website at the Women Deliver conference in June 2019. Our intuitive website serves as an external repository for knowledge. It also highlights our members' strong, intersectional commitment to fulfill SRHR for all. Additionally, we developed a quarterly newsletter to highlight legal and policy developments and advocacy opportunities across the world and share the far-reaching work of APA members in the Asia Pacific.

SOCIAL MEDIA

Our website and social media aim to strengthen cooperation, promote networking and advocacy between members, and exchange knowledge and tools on global, regional and national SRHR developments.

GOVERNANCE

Our organisation is governed by a seven-member international Steering Committee. At our annual meeting, held October 11th, we decided to formally register as a foundation in Bangkok, Thailand. And in August, we secured a new office space and are now open to members and partners at our new location in Surasak district of Bangkok.
